

BAILEUX

Baileux Pty Ltd Privacy Policy

Baileux recognise the importance of protecting the privacy and the right of individuals in relation to their personal information. The document is our privacy policy and it tells you how we collect and manage your personal information.

What is your personal information?

When used in this privacy policy, the term “personal information” has the meaning given to it in the Act. In general terms, it is any information that can be used personally identify you. This may include your name, address, telephone number, email address and profession or occupation. If the information we collect personally identifies you, or you are reasonably identifiable from it, the information will be considered personal information.

What personal information do we collect and hold?

We may collect your name, mailing or street address, email address, telephone number, facsimile number, age or date of birth, profession, occupation or job title and any additional information relating to you that provide to us directly through our website or indirectly through use of our websites or online presence, through our representatives or otherwise and information you provide to us through our customer service, customer surveys or visits by our representatives from time to time.

We may also collect some information that is not personal information because it does not identify you or anyone else. For example, we may collect anonymous answers to surveys or aggregated information about how users use our website.

How do we collect your personal information?

We collect your personal information directly from you unless it is unreasonable or impracticable to do so. When collecting personal information from you, we collect in ways including:

- Through your access and use of our website
- By telephone, letter, fax or email
- During conversation between you and our representatives
- By contracting with us
- By entering competition, promotions or requesting information or material from us
- Completing surveys or providing feedback

We may also collect personal information from third parties including:

- From third party companies such as credit reporting agencies, law enforcement agencies and government entities
- Your representatives (lawyers, accountants, and financial advisers)
- Your employer
- Publicly available sources of information or any other organisation where you have given your consent

Cookies

In some cases we may also collect our personal information through the use of cookies. When you access our website, we may send a “cookie” (which is a small summary file containing a unique ID number) to your computer. This enables us to recognise your computer and greet you each time you visit our website without bothering you with a request to register. It also enables us to keep track of products or services you view so that, if you consent, we can send you news about those products or services. We also use cookies to measure traffic patterns, to determine which areas of our website have been visited and to measure transaction patterns in the aggregate. We use this to research our users’ habits so that we improve our online products and services. Our cookies do not collect personal information. If you do not wish to receive cookies, you can set your browser so that your computer does not accept them.

We may log IP address (that is, the electronic addresses of computers connected to the internet) to analyse trends, administer the website, track users movements, and gather broad demographic information.

What happens if we can’t collect your personal information?

If you do not provide us with the personal information described above, some or all of the following may happen:

- We may not be able to provide the requested products or services to you, either to the same standard or at all
- We may not be able to provide you with information about products and services that you may want
- We may be unable to tailor the content of our website to your preference and your experience of our websites may not be as enjoyable or useful.

For what purpose do we collect, hold, use and disclose your personal information?

We collect personal information about you so that we can perform our business activities and function and to provide best possible quality of customer service.

We collect, hold, use and disclose your personal information for the following purposes:

- To provide products and services to you and to send communications requested by you
- To answer enquiries and provide information or advice about existing and new products or services
- To provide you with access to protected areas of our website
- To assess the performance of the website and to improve the operation of the website
- To conduct business processing function including providing personal information to our related bodies corporate, contractors, service providers or other third parties.
- For the administrative, marketing (including direct marketing), planning, product or service development, quality control, survey, and research purposes of Baileux Pty Ltd, its related body corporate, contractors, franchisees or service providers
- To provide your updated personal information to our related body corporate, contractors or service providers
- To update our records and keep your contact details up to date
- To process and respond to a complaint made by you

- To comply with any law, rule, regulation, lawful and binding determination, decision or direction of regulator or in co-operation with any governmental authority of any country (or political sub-division of a country)

Your personal information will not be shared, sold, rented or disclosed other than as described in this Privacy Policy.

To whom may be disclosed your information?

We may disclose your personal information to:

- Our employees, related body corporate, contractors, franchisees' real estate agents or services providers for the purpose of operation of our website or our business, fulfilling requests by you, and to provide products and service to you including, without limitation, web hosting providers, IT systems administrators, mailing houses, couriers, payment processors, data entry service providers, electronic network administrators, debt collectors, and professional advisors such as accountants, solicitors, business advisors and consultants
- Suppliers and other third parties with whom we have commercial relationships, for business, marketing and related purposes
- Any organisation for any authorised purpose with our express consent.

We may combine or share any information that we collect from you with information collected by any of our related body corporate (within Australia).

Direct marketing materials

We may send you direct marketing communication and information about our products and services that we consider may be of interest to you. These communications may be sent in various forms, including mail, SMS fax and email, in accordance with applicable marketing laws, such as the Spam Act 2003 (Cth). If you indicate a preference for a method of communication, we will endeavor to use that method whenever practical to do so. In addition, at any time you may opt-out of receiving marketing communication from us by contacting us (see the details below) or by using opt-out facilities provided in the marketing communication and we will then ensure that your name is removed from our mailing list.

How can you access and correct personal information?

You may request access to any personal information we hold about you at any time by contacting us (see the details below). Where we hold information that you are entitled to access, we will try to provide you with suitable means of accessing it (for example, by mailing or emailing it to you). We may charge you a fee to cover our administration and other reasonable costs in providing the information to you and, if so, the fee will be disclosed on our website. We will not charge for simply making the request and will not charge for making correction to your personal information.

There may be instances where we cannot grant you access to the personal information we hold. For example, we may need to refuse access if granting access would interfere with privacy of others or if it would result in a breach of confidentiality. If that happens, we will give you a written reason for any refusal.

If you believe that personal information we hold about you is incorrect, incomplete or inaccurate, then you may request use to amend it. We will consider if the information requires amendment. If we do not agree that there are grounds for amendment then we will add a note to the personal information stating that you disagree with it.

What is the process for complaining about a breach of privacy?

If you believe that your privacy has been breached, please contact us using the contact information below and provide details of the incident so that we can investigate it. We will deal with the complaint in accordance with our then current Complaints Handling Procedure.

Do we disclose your personal information to anyone outside Australia?

We may disclose personal information to our corporate and third party suppliers and service providers for some of the purposes listed above. We take reasonable steps to ensure that the recipients of your personal information do not breach privacy obligations relating to your personal information.

We may disclose your personal information to entities located outside of Australia, including the following:

- Our data hosting and other IT service providers
- Other third parties

Security

As our website is linked to the internet, and the internet is inherently insecure, we cannot provide any assurance regarding the security of transmission of information you communicate to us online. We also cannot guarantee that the information you supply will not be intercepted while being transmitted over the internet, accordingly, any personal information or other information which you transmit to us online is transmitted at your own risk.

Links

Our website may contain links to other websites operated by third parties. We make no representations or warranties in relation to the privacy practices of any third party website and we are not responsible for the privacy policies or the content of any third party website. Third party websites are responsible for information you about their own privacy practices.

Contacting us

If you have any question about this privacy policy, any concerns or a complaint regarding the treatment of your privacy, please use the contact link on our website or contact our administration using the details set out below.

We will treat your requests or complaints confidentially. Our representative will contact you within a reasonable time after receipt of your complaint to discuss your concerns and outline options regarding how they may be resolved. We will aim to ensure that your complaint is resolved in a timely and appropriate manner.

Please contact our Administration at:

Baileux Pty Ltd – Administration
Post: PO Box 828, Mackay QLD 4740
Email: admin@baileux.com.au

Change to our privacy policy

We may change this privacy policy from time to time. Any updated version of this privacy policy will be posted on our website. This privacy policy was last updated on 29th May 2017.

I, _____ confirm I have been provided with a copy of this Baileux Pty Ltd Privacy Policy and agree with the terms and conditions

Sign: _____

Date: ___/___/___.